A. Rafik Mohamed became dean of the College of Social & Behavioral Sciences at California State University-San Bernardino in July 2015. SBS serves nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students, and greater than 35 percent of all CSUSB graduates earn their degree from one of SBS’s academic programs. Mohamed holds a B.A. in Sociology and Criminal Justice from the George Washington University, and an M.A. in Social Ecology and Ph.D. in Criminology, Law & Society from the University of California at Irvine. From 1999-2009, Mohamed served as a professor at the University of San Diego where he was also the chairperson of the Department of Sociology and twice selected as the university’s outstanding professor of the year. Between 2009 and 2015, Mohamed served as the chairperson for the Department of Social Sciences at Clayton State University in Atlanta, Georgia where he was also recognized in 2015 with a University Professorship award. Mohamed’s research has focused on domestic drug policy, sports sociology, and issues of racial identity and inequality in the United States. His most recent book titled Black Men on the Blacktop: Basketball and the Politics of Race was published in 2017 with Lynne Rienner Publishers.